grounds of "fraud, duress, and coercion." The duress and coercion, it was held by Judge White, consisted in that he was arrested on a charge brought by the girl, and not having ball, rather than go to jail consented to marry her The fraud and deceit consisted in alleged mis. representations by the respondent. These it was held were not grounds for a divorce, Continuing Judge White said:

Continuing Judge White said:

"Before parties enter into the marriage contract they are bound to make inquiries as to the character and previous life of each other, and if they neglect to do so and are deceived it is their own fault. Courts should not encourage parties settling a case by a marriage ceremony which is to have no other effect than saving the man from going to prison. To grant divorces in such cases, because the parties do dot live together as man and wife afterward, is to make the law a farce and the marriage vow a sham."

A will was left, however, giving her estate, valued at about $3,000, to Mrs. Mary J. Smith. The latter had been a neighbor of Mrs. Oswald, and had nursed her during her last illness. The will was written by Mrs. Smith, and she was the sole legates, with the exception of $100 bequeathed to the Union Centenary Methedist Church. Mrs. Oswald died on March 23, 1888, and it is claimed, though the will is dated February 25, it was not made until March 10 or 11, 1888. Undue influence and testamentary incapacity were also alleged. YEAR'S GRAIN TRADE Stewardship.

Officials of Exchange Give Account of P. R. R. RECEIVES COMMENDATION,

But is Advised to Do Better Things in Favor of Home Dealers.

OFFICE OF PHYSBURG DISPATCH, TUESDAY, June 11, 1889. At the annual meeting for the election of some interesting statistical information was presented by the retiring officials. President McHenry presented an elaborate report of Praise for Rallrand Officials. For such concessions and consequent advantages

acknowledgments are due to the officials of the Pennsylvania Railroad system, and we trust that in the near future still more liberal things will be devised for us by these officials, and also by those devised for us by these officials, and also by those in authority in the management of all transporting lines centering here."

Another point which President McHenry's reperturged with emphasis was that members of the Exchange should concentrate their operations in the open meetings of the Board, instead of doing as they had been in years past—namely, trading outside, on the curbstones and in offices and yards. Very little of the business done by the members appears on the records, and the President arged that all should use their best efforts to have sales made in open meetings of the Exchange.

Large amounts were handled by dealers here which do not stop, and are therefore not reported in exchange transactions. Superintendent Alexander stated in his report that from one-third to one-half of the amount handled by Pittsburg grain merchants did not appear on the Eveloppes's records. Pittsburg grain merchants did not appear on the Exchange's records.

The average of prices for the year were: Wheat, 28½c; ear corn, 47 5-8c; shell corn, 48½c; oats, 34½c; No. 1 imothy hay, $15 25 a ton; No. 1 prairie hay, $11 75; bran, $14 64; middlings, $17 83. The average of prices for last year were: Wheat, 85½c; ear corn, 55½c; shell corn, 53½c; oats, 385½c; No. 1 timothy hay, $13 73; No. 1 prairie, $16 42; bran, $17 18; middlings, $18 57.

The treasurer and chaplain, B. McCracken, reported that the Exchange was in the condition commended by $1. Paul, "owe no man anything," with $603 18 over and above what the apostle required.

This work of superorogation would, however, have strong demands upon it the coming year, as surplus funds would all be needed and more. The ch#plain closed by saying that man's extreuoity was God's opportunity, and that he had no doubt the needed funds would be forthcoming in due time. The expenses of the Exchange for the year closed were $2,205 13.

BOSTON—The demand for wool continues quite good and prices are well sustained. Old wool is firm because of the limited stocks here, and the new clip has not arrived in sufficient quantities to cause an easier feeling. New wool arriving sells readily, California in the range of 16922c. Ohio and Mitchigan wools are in smaller receipts and sell in the range of 220/25c for fine and medium combing and clothing. Fine washed fleeces are dull at former prices. Combing and delaine fleeces are in small supply and washed fleeces are dull at former prices. Combing and delaine fleeces are in small supply and are firm. In Territory wool there have been sales of fine at 17@18c, and choice new medium at 24@28c. FULL OF ENCOURAGEMENT. The Mortunry Report and the Impure Water Scare. Chief Brown, of the Department of Public Salety, held a little consultation yesterday afternoon with Dr. McCandless over the weekly mortnary report just completed by the Health Bureau. Dr. McCandless told him that, when compared with the same week of a year ago, it showed absolutely no increase in sickness or as an obstacle of the Johnstown sufferers brought to town, the death rate was as low as ever. This indicates that the river water of last week was no more injurious than usual.

The report shows that there were 87 deaths in the week. Of the decedents, 20 were residents of the Old City, 65 of the East End, 24 of the Southside, and 5 died in hospitals.

MARKETS BY WIRE.

Uncle Sam Gives Wheat and Corn a Black Eye-More Life in Hog Products, but Prices Unsettled-Onts in the Rut. CHICAGO—Quite a large business was transacted in wheat to-day and a lower range of prices was established, especially for the deferred futures. June closed about %c lower. July opened 1@1%c lower, sold off %c more, rallied 5:60%c, receded again and closed about 1%c lower than resterday. December closed about 1c lower. The break in the market was attributed to the bright and clearing weather and the Government report.

The principal factor no doubt was the June report of the Agricultural Department, which, although showing a falling off of three points A HAPPY CONDITION OF TREASURY in condition, was rather better than many operators had calculated on. The figures as presented by the department indicate a much larger yield than last year. A great deal of officers held by the Grain Exchange to-day long wheat, which had been bought in expectasale and the offerings were heavy. Shorts took advantage of the weakness and bought in, one prominent local dealer being credited with covering freely, and the buying from this source McHenry presented an elaborate report of the transactions for the year past, which, at its close, was indersed by the hands and feet of the members, who were present in full force.

Among many interesting items in the President's report we call only a few. The report in full is well worthy of publication. Its modest author shows a command of English and power of expression, which show that the Exchange made no mistake in their selection of a presiding officer for the year just closed.

Following is an extract from President McHenry's report:

While in the past we have been free to criticise the action of railroad officials charged with the adjustment of freight rates, when the policy adopted was against our interests, we should at the same time belust, and give due credit in all cases when arbitrary rules are relaxed and snry relief is afforded. In the arrangement will be of great benefit to the members of the exchange.

Praise for Railrend Officials.

Tresident deed for the buying from this source checked further decline.

A fair business was reported in corn, the feeling developed being rather unsettled, the market ruling weak early and firmer later. The weaker tone early was attributed to the decline in wheat and more favorable weather, and later the anticipated arrivals had a strengthening influence. The market opened %c below the closing prices of yesterday.

A little more life was manifested in the market for mess pork. Opening sales were made at 25/65c lower, and the market closed tame at medium figures.

the Exchange should concentrate their operations in the open meetings of the Board, instead of deing as they had been in years past—namely, trading outside, on the curbstones and in offices and yards. Very little of the business done by the members appears on the records, and the Freshem traged that all should use their best efforts to have sales made in open meetings of the Exchange.

The following statistics were gathered from President McHenry's and Superintendent Alexander's annual reports:

Total receipts for the year ending May 31, 1889, by cars, flour, 2,825; gralu, 8,525; hay, 4,654; millfeed, 1,251; total, 17,412 cars: last year's total, 16,037 cars; increase, 1,285 cars. Total number of bushels of grain received the past year 6,491,300, or a tonnage of 227,825.

BIG REVENUE FOR PITTSBURG.

FUTURE OF JOHNSTOWN AND SEATTLE

The hopeful feeling among business men of all classes throughout the country is largely due to the improved agricultural prospects. The reports from the crop growing districts are of the most flattering description, and, to quote a prominent railroad President, "should the promises which they hold out be only fair there is no doubt that the common carriers will have ample stuff to move at reasonably remunerative rates." With the improvement of the general situation there is less talk of woe and disaster than the country has been accustomed to during the past few months. The future, so far as it can be discerned, has no discouraging features. It is gratifying to know that Pitts burg is in good shape to take immediate advan age of the expected turn in the tide. Referring to the proposed improvement of Diamond street, a gentleman who has given the subject much attention from every possible point of view, remarked yesterday afternoon:

The Oil Market Braces Up and Makes a Spurt.

The steady diminution of the working stock naturally has a tendency to stiffen the oil market. "The widening of the street would not cost the city a dollar. The expense would be paid by the property holders. It would increase the value of the property on the street at least $2,000,000, and add not far from $100,000 per annum to the revenue of the city. These, it seems to me, are sufficient reasons why the work should be undertaken. But, in addition, the opening of the street would develop! the suburban and country trade, which would be a source of revenue to the city. All of this is outside and beyond the fact that the improve-ment is needed for the comfort and con-enience of the citizens. The way Councils is illy-dailying over the matter makes me tired." The destruction of the city of Seattle, Wash. T., by thre promises to be a blessing in disguise, as was the case with Chicago. President Harper, of the Bank of Pittsburg, said to The DISPATCH representative yesterday: "Seattle was built of wood, of which there are almost inexhaustible supplies of the best kinds in the world in the immediate vicinity. Pine and redwood were the kinds generally used. The latter is a hard wood and is unequaled for in-side work. Many of the buildings were magnificent in size, style of architecture and finish. The new city which will rise from the ruins of the old will be of brick. This will involve no great difficulty, as clay of the finest quality is abundant in that part of the Territory." Coming nearer home, Mr. Harper remarked: "Johns town is one of our own children. That it will be rebuilt there can be no doubt. The old town had some disagreeable features which will no doubt be remedied in the new. The recuperative energies of our people are so great that within five years, or probably less time, few traces of the disaster will remain. The economical and intelligent expenditure of the money now pouring in, together with what will be done by the State, will soon transform the hideous waste into a place of beauty, the abode of a large population, teeming with manifold forms of industry," To show that real estate is attracting the attention of capitalists to an extent scarcely ever before conceived of, a Fourth avenue agent

The steady diminution of the working stock naturally has a tendency to stiffen the oil mar-ket. This was noticeable yesterday, and im-parted more vim to the trading than has been seen for some time. The market opened at 83%c, 1/4c above Monday's close, sold upt o 84c, broke to 83%c, recovered later and sold at 84%c, held to 83%c, recovered later and sold at 84%c, held between that point and 83%c until late in the afternoon, when it rallied a little and closed at 84c, showing a gain of 3%c for the day, New York and Pittsburg were moderate buyers.

A broker said: "Whether the producers accept the Standard's guarantee of 90c on July 1 or not, I look for a radical change in the market after that date. They may sell to the monopoly or they may not—that will depend upon the price when the time for action arrives—but in either event a disturbing element will be removed and operators will know better what to do. Judging from statistics, the market should advance. On the other hand, the diminished number of regular trains and the absence of outside interest may set all calculations at defiance. These considerations render the future course of the market extremely doubtful. All that I am confident of is a new deal of some kind."
